UN Women Rwanda Country Office is recruiting two Consultants including one International/Team Leader as well as a National Consultant to conduct a final evaluation of one of the ONE UN Joint Programme entitled “Advancing and Sustaining Gender Equality Gains in Rwanda” implemented for the period of 2013-2018. The Joint programme led by UN Women with participation of other UN agencies including UNDP and UNFPA, seeks to strengthen accountability and institutional framework for gender equality through National Gender Machinery (NGM) coordinated by the Ministry of Gender and Family Promotion (MIGEPROF).

The Joint Programme’s final evaluation aims at assessing the progress made towards the achievement of overall and specific objectives of the project, to document achievements, gaps and lessons learnt and to provide recommendations and best practices to guide future programming by UN Women and other stakeholders particularly the NGM. The evaluation will be built around four key areas including Relevance of the programme, effectiveness, efficiency and sustainability. The programme’s potential to have a lasting impact would also be analysed.

The International Evaluation Consultant will serve as Team Leader and technically supervise the National Evaluation Consultant.

All interested and qualified candidates may download the Terms of Reference including the requirements for candidates and General Conditions of Service for Consultants from the United Nations Development Program (UNDP) Rwanda website at: http://www.rw.undp.org/content/rwanda/en/home/operations/procurement/notices.htm

Applications including the CV and motivation letter addressed to UN Women Representative clearly showing an adequate understanding of the assignment can be submitted via email to rwanda.offers@unwomen.org by clearly showing whether the applicant is an international consultant candidate or national Consultant.

Applications must be submitted no later than Thursday, 05 April 2018 at 5:00pm Kigali Time